II.5. SCHEDULED TRANSFERS. DIRECT DEBIT

- 2.5.1. The credit transfer may be executed by the Bank at scheduled dates and in fixed amounts in the name and on behalf of the Client in accordance with the mandate given to the Bank by the Client based on a special form.
- 2.5.2. If, by mutual agreement with the bank, the Client agrees that the payment order be executed on a particular day (future credit transfer) or at the end of a certain period (scheduled credit transfer), or on the day on which the client credits the account, the time of receipt is considered the agreed day. If the agreed day is not a banking day, the payment order is considered received on the following working day.
- 2.5.3. The special form signed by the Client for future or scheduled credit transfers is an express mandate given to the Bank to debit, on the agreed date, the respective Client's accounts with a determined or determinable amount in favor of identified beneficiaries.
- 2.5.4. When the Client instructs the Bank to debit its accounts in favor of recipients with unlimited amounts of money (e.g. according to the invoices submitted by the beneficiary), the parties may agree on maximum amounts that can be debited by the Bank under that mandate. To avoid any doubt, the mandate given to the Bank for debiting indefinite amounts at the time of signing the special form cannot be used as a basis for repayment of funds for future/scheduled credit transfers in unexpectedly large amounts.
- 2.5.5. If a maximum amount has been established and the payment required to be made exceeds this amount, the Bank will execute the credit transfer only if the beneficiary of payment accepts the partial execution of the obligation, otherwise the Bank will not execute the payment order, without being held responsible in any way for this.

- 2.5.6. Payment transactions executed within future/scheduled credit transfers cannot be revoked by the Client except in strict accordance with the law.
- 2.5.7. The Client is fully responsible for the correctness and accuracy of the information provided in the special form for future/scheduled credit transfers.
- 2.5.8. The Bank will execute future/scheduled credit transfers within the limits of the available funds in the account in accordance with the order (priority) specified by the Client if several Beneficiaries are included.
- 2.5.9. The accounts of the Client are debited on the agreed day and the funds will be available to the beneficiary's service provider on the following business day.
- 2.5.10. The mandate granted to the Bank for the execution of future/scheduled credit transfers may cease upon the expiration of the term for which it was given, by closing the account, or by unilateral termination by the Client. Unilateral termination by the Client may take place by written notice given to the Bank at the latest on the business day preceding that agreed for the credit transfer.
- 2.5.11. The Bank will charge commissions for the execution of future/scheduled credit transfers, in accordance with the Tariffs in force.
- 2.5.12. A payment order may be initiated by the beneficiary of the Payment based on the consent given by the Client to the beneficiary, the Beneficiary's payment service provider or the Bank (direct debit).
- 2.5.13. Direct debit can only take place on the basis of a specific agreement concluded by the Client, the Bank and the payee, and for a commission charged by the Bank in accordance with the Tariffs in force.

II.6. ACCOUNTS HELD BY MINORS

- 2.6.1. Initiation of the business relationship, opening and management of the accounts, execution of payment transactions and closing of accounts is performed by the parent of the minor under the age of 14, or another legal representative, under the law.
- 2.6.2. The initiation of the business relationship, the opening and administration of the accounts, the execution of the payment transactions and their closure shall be performed by minors who have reached the age of 14 - holders of the respective accounts, provided that these deeds were approved by the parent of the minor or his/her legal representative, under the law.
- 2.6.3. Unless otherwise provided by the law, the family council or, in its absence, the guardianship authority may decide to deposit a certain amount of money belonging to the minor who does not have full capacity in a special account of the child, from which the minor will only be able to make withdrawals with the permission of the family council or, in its absence, the guardianship authority. In this case, the Bank cannot be held accountable for the accepted and executed payment orders, as long as the Bank has not been properly notified of the establishment of the special regime on the account of the minor.

- 2.6.4. The Bank is entitled to request additional Supporting documents to ensure that the payment transaction is performed in accordance with legal and regulatory requirements.

II.7. SUCCESSION

- 2.7.1. The Bank shall be deemed to be notified of the Client's death on the date of submission of the original Death Certificate or authorized copy thereof.
- 2.7.2. The Bank is not liable for any payment transactions authorized by the Deceased Client's representatives made before the day of the Bank's notification about the Client's death.
- 2.7.3. The accounts of the deceased client, except for deposit accounts and current accounts for deposits, will be closed by the Bank from the date of submission of the Death Certificate and their funds available on such accounts will be transferred to a non-interest-bearing technical account.
- 2.7.4. The heirs' claims regarding the deceased's money deposits with the Bank may be submitted at any time after the Certificate of Succession has been issued.
- 2.7.5. The Bank's obligations towards the Deceased Client and his/her receivables from the Bank are indivisible, including among the successors. The indivisibility of the receivable between the successors has the effect of each successor's right to demand the full execution of the benefit (within the limit of the succession share) and the opposability to all successors of the effects of the legal acts concluded by a successor for the possession of the succession quota. From the perspective of the Bank, the effects of the indivisibility of the obligation arise in the possibility to release itself from the obligation either by executing it to a successor or by recording it.
- 2.7.6. Only the patrimonial receivables of the Client from the Bank can be transmitted by succession. The capacity of the Bank's client, the prerogatives and the facilities closely related to the deceased person are not transmitted by succession.
- 2.7.7. Client's successors are jointly liable to the Bank for the obligations of the deceased.
- 2.7.8. Inheritance of deposits:
- a) Depositor's death does not entail the automatic closure of the deposit account and the current account linked to the deposit, nor the termination of the bank deposit agreement. Where there are several successors, the deposit agreement shall continue under the conditions agreed with the deceased depositor only when all successors agree not to withdraw the succession share until the term of the deposit agreement has expired, except as provided in subparagraph c) of this paragraph.
- b) The status of depositor, the right to automatic renewal of the deposit and the right to make additional deposits is not transferred by succession.

- c) The right to partial withdrawals from the deposit is transferred by succession if the depositor had this right under the deposit agreement. Where there are several successors, the partial withdrawal requests must fall within the limit laid down in the deposit agreement and within the limit of the share held by the successor; otherwise the provisions of subparagraph e) of this paragraph shall apply. As a result of the indivisibility of the obligation, the Bank may accept partial withdrawals within the maximum limit set by the deposit agreement and the share of the successor concerned, without taking into account the shares of the other co-successors, subsequent claims of co-successors to be considered as an intention to withdraw above the admitted limits, and, respectively, the provision of subparagraph e) of this paragraph shall apply.
- d) If the successors request the partial or total withdrawal of the interest on the deposit only, with the intention to keep the deposited capital, the deposit agreement shall be terminated, except where there is a sole successor.
- e) If one of the successors submits the Certificate of Succession and requests the release of funds from the deposit and/or the related interest, according to the share held by him/her, or when the successor requests the release of the funds on behalf of the deposit in excess of the partial withdrawal limits stipulated in the agreement, the Bank will terminate the deposit agreement and release the funds that are due to the successor, while the remaining amount shall be recorded for the other successors on a non-interest-bearing technical account. In such cases, the effects of the recalculation of interest due to the expected settlement of the deposit agreement will be opposable to all successors, given the indivisibility of the obligation.
- f) The Bank has no obligation to notify the co-successors about the legal deeds made by some of the successors or about the termination of the deposit agreement.

II.8. BLOCKING OF FUNDS AND UNDISPUTABLE DEBITING

- 2.8.1. The Bank is entitled, without the prior consent of the Client, to make unauthorized use of its accounts, regardless of their type, by blocking, suspending or seizing the accounts, in cases expressly provided by law, on the basis of an enforceable title as established by the law.

2.8.3. The Bank shall have the right, without prior consent from or notification of the Client, to terminate before term deposits created by the Client and to debit the amounts due, if legal preservation/precautionary or enforcement measures have been imposed. The deposit closed in such cases will be subject to the provisions of Chapter III of these GBCs as well as those of the deposit agreement.

2.8.4. No liability may be imputed to the Bank for the unavailability of the Client's accounts and/or the debiting thereof in favor of third parties entitled under the law.

2.9.3. Any error in the Content of the Account Statement will be notified to the Bank as soon as the Client has become aware of the content of the Account Statement, but not later than 30 days, otherwise it is assumed that the Client has accepted the Content of the Statement.

2.9.4. If the Bank itself does identify an error in one of the documents handed over to the Client, the Bank shall rectify it and will notify the Client in this regard, except as provided in these GBCs.

2.9.5. The Bank shall correct a payment transaction carried out incorrectly or in an unauthorized manner, only if the client notifies such error as soon as it becomes aware of it (but within 30 days of the date of issue of the Statement of Account) and no more than 13 months after the date of debiting the account - if the Bank did not provide the Account Statement.

2.9.6. The parties agree that the Bank has the right to include in the Account Statement any communication/request by the Bank to the Client, including commercial offers and/or advertising materials.
